Social Network Analysis

Assignment 8   9 Nov 2022 (Wed)

Assignment Details:

Based on the previous assignment in which you outlined your plan for social media data collection for your final project for this module, your assignment today is to actually begin the process of gathering that data. Depending on your specific needs, it may not be possible to gather all of your data in a single session; however, you should at least begin writing code and scraping / saving some data.

After doing so, write a brief email report explaining:

- Your progress in gathering data so far (including how much you have actually downloaded / saved);

- Any problems you have encountered;

- Any changes you are making to your data collection plan as a result.

This is the final step prior to the preparation of your full research plan, which will be tomorrow's assignment.
